Office of the Legislative Counsel

Tuesday - 24 November 1959

2. Talked with Dorothy Fosdick in the office of Senator Henry M. Jackson (D., Wash.) concerning his letter to the Agency asking for certain information on nuclear testing by the Soviets. Miss Fosdick indicated that the Senator had sent letters at the same time to the Atomic Energy Commission and Department of Defense dealing with their areas of competence and had signed them all in his capacity as Chairman of the Military Applications Subcommittee of the Joint Atomic Energy Committee looking forward to detailed written replies. Therefore, a suggestion of an oral briefing did not seem appropriate.

At this point, Kenneth Mansfield got on the telephone and thanked me very much for the reports on the policy making machinery of Communist China and Russia. It was further agreed that the unclassified versions of these two studies would be forthcoming in the near future but would be used on a nonattributable basis.
